6 years, 7 months, and 15 days. The paint job that turned into a frame-off restoration is finally nearing completion! I say nearing because you know they're never really done. The car came back from touch up on February 22nd. I have a few tweaks to do like tucking in the bumpers, deciding whether to keep the EFI or go back to the Quadrajets, and converting it over to LED headlights eventually. It's nice to see the weather change for the better finally. I'll be needing to take it on some test drives.

There's something satisfying about having touched almost every single nut and bolt, assembling the engine yourself, and building the car the way you want it. From a modified standpoint anyway. I know I've used the term "trailer queen" in a derogatory way in the past, but I fully understand that when you have a perfect original or restored 100% stock rare car, you can't risk driving it long distances.

Remember that the BOPC is earlier than usual this year, Saturday April 26th. The Oldsmobile club is hosting it this year, after electing new officers and continuing to be a functioning club. We'll let you know if and when volunteers are needed. For now, make sure it's on your calendar - it's less than two months away. I do like the fact that it is not on the same day as the monthly Piedmont Church cruise-in, as that will avoid some confusion. Registration details are in this issue.

Our March event is the 20th annual Memories in Monroe Car Show on Saturday March 15th in, you guessed it, Monroe GA. We went to this show a few years ago and it was huge. There were cars parked everywhere in town. You'll be receiving meet-up instructions via email soon, so stay tuned.

Well, I need to go to the garage now. Cheers!

Keep 'em between the ditches!

Time for a GTO???

I pulled into the office parking lot the other day and my 4Runner was showing this on the ODO. Is this a sign that I need some Pontiac excitement?
